

Production line automation

Motivation

The need for improving the production system demanded simulation techniques in order to find out the real automation needs.

Objective

Improve the machining operation parameters of cast parts and identify the number of robots necessary to automate the production line.

Approach

With the use of digital manufacturing it is possible to evaluate the proposed system performance in a virtual environment and compare the results to the current system.

