

Resource Efficient Production in Brazil

Motivation

The raising demand for energy, combined with the growing paucity of natural resources, has led to an increasing necessity for an efficient use of the available resources.

Objective

To transfer method knowledge and the ability to conduct research and consulting projects in the field of resource efficiency in production.

Approach

Is expected to achieve the strengthening of the domestic industry as regards the identification of waste sources, performing the analysis of the energy potential of the waste, identifying the potential for recycling and reuse of the same.
